Enjoying an exquisite scientific prestige and an important number of national and international participants, the conference, on its 10th edition, provides opportunity for scientific discussion and collaboration on the broad range of relevant fertile areas associated to recent trends in the field of the Economic Sciences. Over the last decades, there is a growing recognition in economics and business environments of the key role played by economic integration both at the national and world level. In a dynamic environment, uncertain contexts like those we are currently experiencing, the capacity and necessary attitude for economic integration is fundamental and the probability of success is largely expected and determined by the European Union. At the same time there is a growing recognition of the need of more sustainable development, combining economic, ecologic and social aspects. In this setting and networking in, the European Integration in economics, business and policy making, go hand in hand. EINCO 2014 intends to further provide the framework for relevant scientific debates focused on the challenges faced by the economic integration process in general, and by the European Integration, in particular, with reference to both the framework specific to Romania, as the newest EU Member State, as well as the general framework of the latest European policies and practices.

Academic researches, post-doctoral researches, PhD researches, case studies and work-in-progress are welcomed approaches.
